Architectural Interventions within and beyond Industrial Heritage

GOMA Taller

is an architecture firm founded in 2019 and based in Querétaro, Mexico.
Formed by architects, engineers and designers, it approaches each project as an exploration of context, materiality and memory. Through precise restorations, subtle additions and large-scale urban recycling, the studio develops multidisciplinary and crafted responses that transform buildings and landscapes while preserving their identity, drawing from industrial and vernacular heritage to create contemporary spaces rooted in simplicity, light and time-weathered materials.
