Søren Johansen

A lecture within “Tectonics – In English”, HSLU T&A, IAR

Søren Johansen ist part of the office Johansen Skovsted Arkitekter, based in Copenhagen.

“The office seeks to bridge the gap between contemporary building processes and materials, and basic architectural values, through a synthesis of ideas, techniques and manufacturing methods. The office sees structure as a lively part of the space it makes by placing and connecting components which are both readable and relatable and which strongly contribute to a particular spatial character.” www.johansenskovsted.dk
